DAVIS COUNTY ASSESSOR'S OFFICE MISSION STATEMENT

Ensure that all properties in our county, real and personal, are valued at Fair Market Value, comply with all laws and statutes in a responsible and reasonable manner, and maintain a high standard of assessment and equity for each taxpayer.

The Davis County Assessor's Office is required by the Utah Constitution to list and annually value all property subject to ad valorem taxation ("according to value") as of January 1st of each year. This includes appraising real property, personal property, and some motor vehicles at "fair market value".

SALES INFORMATION

Overview of Sales Used in Market Value Determinations

The top chart shows a comparison of the number of residential homes sold per month in Davis County over the past five years. The bottom chart shows the average and median home sales prices since 2012. It is worth noting how the second chart illustrates the doubling of house prices in Davis County following the recovery after the Great Recession.

APPEAL INFORMATION

Appeal Process and Statistics

When an appeal is filed, only the property value can be appealed, the actual tax on the property cannot be appealed. These rates are set by the different taxing entities (school board, county, city, water district, etc).

Valuation notices are mailed around July 23. The deadline to file an appeal is either 45 days after the notice is mailed or September 15th, whichever is later. The deadline is displayed on the valuation notice.

Evidence of value is needed, along with an application, when submitting an appeal. There are several items of evidence that can be submitted.

Comparable Sales – Sales dated near the lien date of January 1st that are located near the subject property with similar characteristics are best. Submitting three homes that sold two years ago, located five miles away, which were bank owned properties, are not considered good evidence. The question that should be asked when looking for sales is, "Would the comparable property compete against my property if both were for sale."

Purchase/Refinance – If a home was purchased or refinanced within 12 months of the lien date of January 1st, a settlement statement or appraisal is acceptable evidence.

Income – If the property in question is an income producing property, income and expense records would be appropriate evidence.

Factual Error – If the information on the property is incorrect, for example, a home is stated in the county records as larger than actual size, or noted that it has finished basement when in actuality it does not, please supply evidence of the error. NOTE: Single family residences are measured by the outside walls, not the inside. Though you can't live inside the walls they are necessary for the structure to stand. National appraisal standards direct appraisers to measure from the outside. Condos, however, are measured by interior measurements.

When the county receives an appeal, it is reviewed by the Tax Administration Department. If there is not enough evidence or the evidence is not applicable, the taxpayer has 20 days to respond with sufficient evidence. If the evidence justifies a change to the market value, a change will be made. Either way, a letter is sent to the taxpayer.

If the taxpayer is unsatisfied with the result, a hearing can be scheduled with the Board of Equalization (BOE). There is a 20 day window from the date of the market review letter to file for a hearing. A hearing is an informal meeting where both the taxpayer and an appraiser from the Assessor's Office present their evidence. The hearings are presided over by an independent hearing officer. This is usually a local appraiser who is not a full-time employee of Davis County; they are hired by the Tax Administration on a contract basis.

APPEAL INFORMATION

Appeal Process and Statistics

If both the appellant and the county accept the Board of Equalization decision, the process ends. If either the appellant or the county disagrees with the decision from the BOE, a request can be made for the process to go to the Utah State Tax Commission. This request must be made within 30 days from the date of the BOE decision letter.

GREENBELT INFORMATION

Overview of Farmland in the County

The Utah Farmland Assessment Act (FAA), also called the Greenbelt Act, allows qualifying agricultural property to be assessed and taxed based upon its productive capability instead of the prevailing market value. This unique method of assessment is vital to agricultural operations in close proximity to expanding urban areas, where taxing agricultural property at market value could make farming operations economically prohibitive.

FAA land is classified according to its capability of producing crops or forage. Capability is dependent upon soil type, topography, availability of irrigation water, growing season, and other factors. All agricultural land in the county is based on SCS Soil Surveys and guidelines provided by the Utah State Tax Commission. The general classifications of agricultural land are Irrigated, Dry Land, Grazing Land, Orchard, and Meadow. If you disagree with your land classification, you can appeal to your county board of equalization for reclassification.

The following chart shows the difference in Greenbelt values and market values per city.

PERSONAL PROPERTY

The Personal Property Division of the Assessor's Office consists of one Supervisor/Personal Property Appraiser, five personal property appraisers, and one office specialist. They work to make sure that all non-exempt, tangible personal property is valued and assessed annually.

Taxable personal property is primarily that which is used in the operation of a business, mobile and manufactured homes in communities where the land beneath the manufactured/mobile home has different ownership than the home, and motor vehicles registered with the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The Personal Property Division is responsible to value all motor homes, boats 31 feet or longer, and commercial trucks and trailers. They also manage inventory lists for dealerships that have value-based vehicles. The DMV collects the county's portion of all motor vehicle fees/taxes and forwards those funds to the county.

All personal property tax is collected and apportioned to the county, cities, school districts, and other taxing entities to pay for local governmental services in the same manner as real property tax.

Personal property values, like real property values, are based on a January 1 tax lien date. The chart below represents the 2020 personal property tax values.
